Principal’s Report
Working in Harmony

The River Thames flows through London joining more than 8 million residents together as Londoners and the roads, boats, bridges and water work in harmony to move people and goods around and across the city and ‘suburbs’ that make up Greater London which is home to more than 300 nationalities.

Last week Bega High School celebrated the diversity of cultures, personalities and experiences of people who come together every day at the school. You might even be able to track the Bega River through the valley and the towns from which many of us are drawn.

Lots of "orange" was seen on Monday 21st March around the school as students and staff celebrated their diversity and a great luncheon brought staff together under the leadership of Bindy Hayes (Head Teacher HSIE). Such events, eagerly supported by both students and staff, show that education is not just about what happens in the classroom.

Both teachers and students are learning every day about what is important and how education can make a difference to individuals and society. Sometimes there is ‘inharmony’ when behaviour stops others from learning or engaging appropriately so there are times when teachers will make contact with parents/careers to ensure we stay on task in delivering great outcomes for all students. You can also make contact with us if something is preventing your child from fully engaging in their learning - 6492 9000 to make an appointment.

The upcoming vacation will be welcome relief for Year 12 students after their mid-course exams and assessments. It will also give students time to find their winter uniform items with the colder weather arriving.

Parent Teacher interviews will happen early in Term 2 and we look forward to giving both parents and students progress updates. Of course, you can get these updates at any time, through Year Advisers, Head Teachers and Mark Freedman (Head Teacher Student Welfare) by contacting the school.

Education is learning what you didn't even know you didn't know. Daniel J Boorstin

Year 9 student, Jake Peacey, Visits ABC South East NSW Radio

On Thursday 11th March Jake Peacey from Year 9 visited the ABC Radio studios in Bega along with his support aide Russell Cook.

Jake and Russell were invited into the On-Air studio and observed Jen Hunt broadcasting the Morning Program. Jake was given a run-down on how live radio functioned and Jen also demonstrated some of the technical equipment and computer programs they use for broadcasting. Jake was able to watch as Jen had a live discussion with Sophie who was taking over after the 10am News.

After the On-Air experience Station Manager, Lisa Markham, introduced Jake to Josh the rural reporter. Josh gave Jake an explanation of how he put together the South East Rural Report and showed an interview he was currently working on using very interesting sound editing software on his computer.

Next on the list was the News Team, Alice and John, who took Jake into the news room and demonstrated how news stories were prepared for broadcast and how they linked-in with Statewide and National news bulletins. They also made a video of Jake for their Facebook page.

Jake and Russell would like to thank Lisa Markham and her staff for the trouble they went to in making Jake’s visit incredibly worthwhile. Bega High School students and staff should stay tuned for further developments coming your way soon on-campus.
Work Experience for Year 10 Students

Year 10 students are expected to have completed at least one week’s Work Experience before the end of the year.

NOTE - Where there is a demonstrated need, students will be able to undertake more than one placement. Over the year, some students, particularly those wanting to leave school at the end of the year or in Year 11 for full-time employment, may have 3 or 4 placements.

I have now spoken in class to all Year 10 students, ensuring that they understand and will abide by the workplace culture they will find themselves in during work experience. The issues of Workplace Safety have also been discussed in detail.

If students have the desire to go to a workplace that will be in high demand from other students from this or other schools, they should come and discuss this with me as soon as possible. Once I have approved the placement, students are expected to contact the employer and get their details, including name of the contact, name of the business, telephone numbers and address.

These details are transferred by me to the Student Placement Record (SPR), to be signed by the student and parent/carer and the employer before being returned by the student to the Careers Office before the placement starts. I can email the SPR to the employer if necessary.

NB: No arrangements with employers should take place until approval is obtained from me.

- Insurance for all parties must be covered by the Department of Education & Communities – this is done when the signed Student Placement Record is returned to me.
- No placements are possible during holiday time or weekends (excluding Saturday mornings) as the insurance cover is not available then.
- Interstate placements are available at any time for the ACT, with Queensland possible under unusual circumstances. Victorian placements are possible, but only if a similar placement isn’t available locally.
- Placements involving any accommodation away from home for the week must be organised well in advance, with at least four weeks’ notice if you want to go to the ACT or Vic.
- Don’t leave your work experience week until Term IV. If too many students leave it until then, you must be aware that:
  a) The two private schools in the valley have their work experience weeks at this time.
  b) Employers may be swamped with applications through the year and therefore places will be closed or limited.

If parents and carers have any questions regarding the Work Experience Program, please feel free to contact me on 64929013.

Bega High QUILTS!

Why quit smoking?

Parents who are interested in talking to their children about smoking may wish to discuss the benefits of quitting and ways to go about it. Both parents and students who smoke, and are considering quitting, may find the information below helpful.

There are many positive reasons to be smoke free.

* saving money - Smoking can quickly develop into an expensive habit. A dependent smoker who pays $20 for a pack of cigarettes and smokes a pack a day, will be paying $140 a week, or $600 a month on cigarettes.
* having increased fitness and endurance in sport
* Breath doesn’t smell and skin looks better
* Not getting into trouble for smoking
* avoiding becoming a heavy or dependent smoker.

Are you sick of smoking? Here are some tips that may help you quit.

1. If you feel like smoking try the 4D’s: Delay, Drink water, Deep breathe, Do something else.
2. Quit with a friend – set a date.
3. Throw the cigarettes and lighters away.
4. Spend time with people who don’t smoke.
5. Change your routine; avoid places where smoking is common or where you usually smoke.
6. Plan to spend the money you save on something else you want.
7. Keep your hands busy.
8. Do something active when you feel like smoking.
9. Contact the NSW Quit line on 13 74 48.

Students, Teachers, Parents and Caregivers from Bega High School who smoke have access to FREE Nicotine Replacement Therapy as a part of the Bega High Quits Program.

For more information contact Mr Freedman (6492 9000) or Liz Scott (6492 6600).
Free Concert by Four Winds at Bega High

Nicholas Ng, one of the performers at the Four Winds Festival, gave a free concert at our school on the erhu and zhonghu – Chinese 2 string violins, pipa – Chinese guitar, hulusi – Chinese wind instrument similar to a recorder.

The concert was attended by elective Music students from Years 9 – 12, plus selected Year 8 and 7 classes.

Elective students, in particular, appreciated the skill needed to play these instruments and the musical sounds they produced.

Thank you to Lara Crew and Four Winds for arranging to bring this amazing musician to our school.

Drums for Harmony

On Friday 18 March 2016 several groups of students and staff from the Languages Other Than English (LOTE), English as an Alternative Language/Dialect (EAL/D) and Music faculties joined forces to participate in a drum making workshop as part of Bega High School’s preparations for Harmony Day. Harmony Day is celebrated on March 21 each year and aims to show cohesion and inclusion in Australia and promote a tolerant and culturally diverse society. It coincides with the United Nations International Day for the Elimination of Racial Discrimination.

The drums will be used in Mrs Teranishi’s Taiko drumming lessons as part of the cultural and musical program the school offers. The tyre drums are inexpensive and easy to make and will allow lots more students to participate. Phil Banks, head teacher of the Industrial Arts Faculty has kindly agreed to design and make stands for them with funds from Bega High School secured by Mrs Bindi Hayes as part of the Harmony Day celebrations.

Carol Holden, who teaches EAL/D, coordinated this cross faculty project. She wishes to thank Ken Rosie, a Bemboka local, for teaching her the technique, and Eric from the Candelo Servo for kindly donating the tyres.

We look forward to some Taiko drumming performances. BYO earplugs. It gets loud!

Zone Volleyball

On Friday the 18th March Bega Stadium hosted 5 schools and 11 teams in the Open Zone Volleyball Tournament.

Competition was fierce but our Bega teams banded together to help each other get the most from the day. A number of our boys and girls had never played before and our girls’ team managed to win 2 of their 5 games which was a very pleasing result.

The boys took a few sets of some top notch teams and learned to play well as a team. Batemans Bay took out the top spot in both the boys’ and the girls’ competition but a great day was had by all of our Bega students who approached every game with energy and enthusiasm.

A huge thankyou to Tabitha for assisting us with team duties.

The cross country will be conducted in the morning from 9.05am – 11.45pm (approx.).

Venue - Bega Recreation Field 1

Roll Call - will be conducted at 9.05am at the venue

Attire - PE uniform or appropriate clothing in house colours

Procedure - Students must meet at Bega Recreation Field 1. Students who normally catch a bus to school will be dropped to the Recreation Field by their bus. Students who normally walk to school or arrive by private transport must meet at the venue by 9.00am.

All students are to be expected to run or walk the Cross Country unless they bring a note from their parents/carers for an exemption. Please bring a drink bottle that can be taken on the run/walk if you need it. Asthma sufferers are asked to bring their medication.

Students have been doing cardio respiratory training during their PE lessons so they should know how to pace themselves on a longer run.

The emphasis on the cross country is to participate in a fun physical activity with your friends in the fresh air and an added bonus could be you achieve a personal best. You may even win the event or come a place! The zone cross country will be held in Wolumla during Term 2, and the first 6 placegetters will win a spot in the school team.

It will be interesting to see how some of our schools regular “Park runners” go on the day.

It is compulsory for all students in Years 7 – 10 to attend sport each week. If you have made an appointment for your child at this time, it should be a one off and a pass must be obtained before school.

If students are not attending sport and they do not have a pass, they are considered a truant and this is noted on their school record.

Students must not catch their school buses from Bega Valley Primary School but return to Bega High at the end of sport.

 It is a pre-requisite of Surfing that students complete their “Surf Survival” certificate. It is conducted for students in Year 9 and up with a view that they will choose Surfing for sport in the future.
Under 14s Cricket

On Monday 21st March, the 9 boys and 3 girls jumped on a mini bus and headed to Bodalla Sports Ground to play out the second round of the Hassett Cup Cricket against Moruya High School.

Moruya chose to bat first and made a total of 114 runs after the decided 30 overs. Moruya had some obvious talent in the field but our batters kept a level head against some quick bowlers and at the half way mark we were just below where we needed to be.

The next few overs provided opportunities for our batsmen and a tidy partnership between Jack Allen and Clay Ellison got us most of the way to our target. Unfortunately Jack got caught out approaching his half century but the hard work was already done. The remaining runs were acquired easily and Bega High came away with the win.

We are off to the next round within the coming weeks. Well done Bega High!!

From the English Faculty
‘The morning was young and the waves were glossy.’

By Kai Carter
Year 11

Waves role into the beach unridden, as I stand at the lookout waiting for the sun to just rise a fraction more over the horizon. We don’t paddle out in the dim light, that’s when the sharks get you. The morning was young and the waves were as glossy as the magazines.

Light offshore winds blowing, mid low tide creating that crazy hollow wave every surfer lives for. The struggle is real, squeezing into my freezing cold wetsuit. I grab my board from the back of the car and run down to the beach “see you soon honey”, “Mum yells as she departs the car park. She’s a legend, real top lady, but on the other hand my step dad is as straight and boring as a two by four piece of timber. I always question her on how she even came to liking the guy, definitely not my cup of tea. But that’s her choice, not mine.

The icy water splashes over my feet as I wade further into the sea. The sunlight flickers and dances upon the steal blue waves. The crystal clear water engulfs my body as I duck dive through the oncoming wave, hearing the wave unfold above me, hissing, rumbling and cracking.

The ocean is such a magical place, I’ve always been puzzled by the creation of the perfect wave, like how does a surging mass of water allow a surfer to glide across an open face of water performing maneuvers no land dweller could think of, truly magical!

I sit up on my surfboard and follow the glistening water all the way out till my eyes reach the horizon, where the vibrant orange sun awaits. I think to myself and wonder what a sunrise would be like from different locations around the world. I dream of traveling one day to all the world class surf breaks and chase that endless summer around the world.

One day, one-day I’ll make the dim light at the end of the tunnel to the inside world. Possibly in my gap year which isn’t too far away, only a few more terms. I think I’d probably prefer to listen to the noise of finger nails being scraped across a chalkboard than do my HSC. Schooling isn’t my strong point. I have a lot of trouble sitting still and concentrating for long periods of time. I often find myself drifting off thinking about surfing and or watching my tide watch waiting for it to hit that mid tide mark. This is when it’s best at Boneyards.

Surfing is that one thrill that makes you feel a part of the ocean and when you’re out there, your mind is free of thought and time slows down. You can sit out there for hours and not one thought will pass through your mind, besides a few of the hot local chicks. Don’t get me started on them!

Waves jut up here and there like the 12 apostles, not one has tempted me yet. I’m waiting for the perfect wave, the one that will take me all the way to the shore. One with a bit more shape, stands up, and comes straight my way, this is the wave I’ve been waiting for.

I turn and paddle until I feel the force of the wave connect with the board, like two magnets being drawn together. I tell you now from the look of this wave, it’s going to be an absolute pisser. I pop up on my board, as quick as questions are asked when Mum finds out I have a new girlfriend. I’m up now and sliding across the glassy face of the wave, the wave size builds up, it’s all most two times the size of me.

It bears down on me as if I’m an ant, I watch the lip of the wave gobble me up like I was an entre at a restaurant, this is one of the most spacious barrels I’ve ever been inside, you could fit two people inside this thing!

Time slows down as I watch the wave churn the sand off the reef, through the thrashing layer of water that shades me from the outside world. I was in complete solitude, listening to all the droning sounds the wave is making. This wave could easily have swallowed me up, but I’m not letting it have the satisfaction. I throw my arms tall and race through the opening, shooting past the lip that once encompassed me. I’m out, I’m out! The collapsing wave behind me, shoots a great force of wind with tinnies water particles hurling my way, nearly sending me tumbling off my board, arse over head as it hits me on the back, it’s like 1000 needles pricking me.

This is the type of feeling that gives you more of a buzz than coffee! Yelling and yahoing while I fly down the wave, driving straight off the bottom rocketing to the top, edging the rail of my board and transferring my weight onto my back foot cutting back so that in facing the breaking part of the wave and then quickly whipping it around so that I’m facing the same direction as I started, leaving an S shaped slip stream.

This wave is not holding back at all, I’m frothing because we haven’t had good swell for about a month. I drive another big turn off the bottom and propel myself up the steep face, this time penetrating my fins through the back of the wave until I break through the top of the lip, freeing themselves sending spray into the air like a rooster’s tail as I re-enter the wave.

I love it when waves allow you to line these turns, it’s almost like dancing on water. I eye off the last little section of the wave (like a little kid waiting inline for the last cream doughnut), the part where the wave will suck right up and shut down. Pumping as hard as I can, I gain enough speed to come straight off the bottom and project my board through the lip of the wave, fully elevating myself in the air with the board still at my feet. I travel a few meters and then free fall through the lip and into the turbulent foam diving off my board and into the water. I lay in the water for a bit, with my board just drifting at the end of my kook rope.

Frothing on about how amazing the wave was, I was unaware of the person who had just witnessed the whole wave. This is the life, nothing can beat this!

The feelings you get are unexplainable. I paddle back out and get a couple more alright ones. On my last wave, the stranger that had been watching me from the headland beckons me in. I belly board the wave all the way until it fades off close to the shore.

I paddle until I can stand and wade in the rest of the way, the man is about six foot tall with longish ratty blond hair, wearing a pair of Levi denim jeans, worn thin at the knees, ripped in some spots, a plain white tee and a pair of retro glasses. He yells out ‘Hey dude I’m Skip, I’m a board shaper from up the coast. I dig your style and was wondering if you wanted to join my crew’. He told me about all these competitions and how I could get big and make loads of money. I headed home, indecision weighing heavily on my mind.

I find myself stuffing a duffel bag with a few pairs of boardies and tee shirts and scrapping a quick apology to Mum, hoping she’d cope with my decision and having to deal with the boredom of life with just my step dad around.
